Good Works Annual Report

Purpose

Founded in 1988, Good Works Inc. is a faith-based nonprofit organization headquartered in Coatesville, PA. From our warehouse sites in Coatesville, Exton, Phoenixville and St. Peters Village, we now serve 49 municipalities in Chester County. We transform sub-standard houses into warmer, safer, drier homes, and despair into hope. Our services are offered to homeowners at no cost and volunteers do most of the repairs. Our goal is to see the inhabitants of these homes rise above their level of poverty and experience a richness through being cared for and knowing that their circumstances matter to their community and to God. We believe that everyone benefits when people from different races, cultures and backgrounds join together with a common purpose – repairing homes and restoring hope.

Charge

We are God’s workmanship, created in Christ Jesus to do good works, which God prepared in advance for us to do. Ephesians 2:10

Mission

Transforming lives by repairing homes for low-income families and sharing the hope found in Jesus Christ.

Vision

Repairing homes and restoring hope in communities nationwide.

Belief

God’s plan for us is revealed in the Bible where it is written that all who trust in Jesus Christ, the Son of God, as their Lord & Savior will one day spend eternity with Him in Heaven. In response to God’s unrequited love, mercy and grace towards us, we are compelled to serve others and share His love with them.

The God of the Mountain Top is the God of the Valley

2020 will not soon be forgotten, although many would prefer otherwise. It was a year of highs and lows...of mountains and valleys. The COVID-19 pandemic wreaked havoc on all aspects of life and certainly challenged Good Works on many levels. But the inconveniences the pandemic created for Good Works paled in comparison to what our homeowners were forced to deal with. Illness, job loss, school closures and isolation in substandard homes that posed greater health risks than the virus itself. The need was great, so our response had to be greater.

In 1 Kings 20 we read that the Arameans were planning to attack Israel. They had attacked once already in Samaria which is in the hill country, and now mistakenly believed that the God of Israel was only the god of the hills and not of the valleys or anywhere else. But a prophet told the Israelite King that God would ensure victory so that everyone would know that He is the Lord. And He did just that, bringing a decisive victory and proving that The Lord God Almighty rules and reigns supreme over every place on earth – every hill, every valley.

The pandemic was a deep valley, but Good Works relied on God and continued repairing homes and restoring hope under a government-approved waiver and a set of COVID-19 prevention guidelines targeted at protecting the health of our homeowners, staff and volunteers. And the results were nothing short of a victory. By year-end, with less than half of our regular volunteers, Good Works assisted 157 families, completed 33 homes and recorded over 5,000 faith touches. And in the midst of the valley, God granted Good Works a mountain top experience – the completion of our 1000th home! On a glorious July day, and in spite of masks and social distancing, Good Works celebrated with John & Jamie Schaffer a victory so big that only the God of the Mountains and the Valleys could have architected it...1000 homes completed for Jesus!

Repairing the Hole in Our Gospel

Good Works was blessed to have Richard Stearns, acclaimed author and humanitarian speak at our virtual fundraising e-vent on November 7, 2020. The program entitled Repairing the Hole in Our Gospel explored the impact of poverty around the world and how Good Works is responding to the challenge. Commenting on our mission Richard said, "When we commit ourselves to following Christ, we also commit to living our lives in such a way that a watching world will catch a glimpse of God's character – His love, His justice, and His mercy – through our words, our actions, and our behavior. He called us to go out, to proclaim the good news – to be the good news – and to change the world."

In the midst of the valley, God granted Good Works a mountain top experience.

A completed home is a mountain top experience for everyone involved.

Then a man of God came and spoke to the king of Israel, and said, "Thus says the Lord: 'Because the Syrians have said, "The Lord is God of the hills, but He is not God of the valleys," therefore I will deliver all this great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the Lord.' "

1 KINGS 20:28

Homeowners

Back in 1989, a small group of volunteers began work on Miss Molly Ellerbe's home in Coatesville. It was Good Works' first home. They worked tirelessly, once a month for a year and when all the projects were done, they decided that it was fitting to celebrate the work, the family, the volunteers and God. It was Good Works first Dedication Ceremony and we have held 999 of those ceremonies since then.

John and Jamie Schaffer have lived in their Phoenixville home since they married. But the 2008 recession hit them hard. Both lost their job, and equivalent full time employment at their age was difficult to find. They made ends meet, but soon the cost of home repairs was putting a significant strain on their budget. Good Works was working on another home in their neighborhood and Jamie thought she would just inquire to see if we would help them. A leak from their upstairs bathtub had softened the bathroom floor and was damaging the kitchen ceiling, but hiring a plumber was unaffordable. Little did the couple know that they had a bigger issue. Their home was literally killing them. The headaches that Jamie had been struggling with weren't from stress, but from a hidden killer in their basement. Good Works repair technicians discovered that the Schaffer's chimney was fully blocked, forcing lethal exhaust fumes from their furnace into their home. "We're so lucky we're alive!" John exclaimed. Not only did Good Works repair the chimney, but everything else that needed to be done in the home, including that leaky bathtub plumbing.

The transformation of John and Jamie's home was only matched by the transformation in their lives. When asked what was the best part of their involvement in Good Works, Jamie simply replied, "Learning the love of Christ." She recognized that the volunteers who worked on her home weren't just there to fix the plumbing and the water damaged floor and ceiling. They were sharing Christ's love through their work and the conversations that enriched each workday. "Time with God and fellowship was a high priority" Jamie said, "We are so grateful for everything Good Works did for us."

It came as a big surprise to John and Jamie that their home was the 1000th home completed by Good Works. The dedication ceremony was held on July 25, 2020 and attended by State Senator Andy Dinniman, all three Chester County Commissioners, the Mayor of Phoenixville along with other VIPs and members of the Good Works staff and volunteers who worked on the Schaffer's home. Bob Beggs, concluded the ceremony with this summary, "The God who created the universe could eliminate poverty with a blink of His eye. Nothing is too big for our God. Instead, He gives us that task. He gives us the opportunity to connect with our neighbors, to break down social and economic barriers, to walk alongside and have compassion for people who are struggling, and to learn to love each other as He loves us.

God created Good Works as a place where we can apply the time, talents and treasure that He gives each of us to make this world a better place and bring Glory to Him. And we are all better for it. 1000 homes completed for Jesus – God did that!"

Partners

The journey through a valley or the exhilaration of the mountain top experience are best shared with others. Good Works was blessed in 2020 with some great partners who did not let the pandemic crush their spirit or dampen their enthusiasm to fulfill our essential mission. We understand the constraints that many of our church and corporate partners experienced in 2020 and although some engagements may have waned in 2020, we recognize those decisions were made out of an abundance of caution. Circumstances being what they were, Good Works did experience some new and encouraging Partnership engagements in 2020 and a few of them are highlighted here.

Experience Christian Church

Experience Christian Church of Exton has a motto: "God is better experienced than explained." Senior Pastor Matt Silver brought a small group from his congregation to participate in a Good Works workday for the first time in May of 2020. It was just after the COVID lock down began and workday volunteerism was at its lowest point. Experience Church was undaunted and its members have returned every month since. This church's vision is to serve in a manner that helps others experience the love of Jesus and it is in the midst of a storm, like COVID, where His love shines brightest.

Calvary Fellowship of Downingtown

Calvary Fellowship of Downingtown has been a Good Works Partner Church for over a decade. The church is committed to leading people to the Cross, guiding people through the Cross and inspiring people to take up their cross. This year, the youth of Calvary Fellowship stepped up in an unprecedented way. Kate Davison invited some friends in her youth group to give Good Works a try and her team has grown and returned on a monthly basis throughout the pandemic to complete and dedicate their first home. While others were isolating, Calvary Fellowship youth donned their masks and put their faith into action becoming a blessing to their homeowner and each other.

West Chester Community Evangelical Church

West Chester Community Evangelical Church is amazing. Its primarily Chinese congregation has the mission to bring total reconciliation of Christ to all nations. But this church cares as much about reaching their local community as they do across the globe. WCCEC members attended several workdays during the COVID crisis but it was their celebration of Chinese New Year that was a culinary treat to Good Works homeowners and volunteers. Church members baked hundreds of homemade Chinese delicacies and carefully decorated them with hand-made scripture-based cards and wrappings. Then they delivered the treats to homes where Good Works teams were working. It was a cookie blessing!

Ricoh USA

Ricoh USA is an information management and digital services company that creates a competitive advantage for over 1.4 million businesses across the globe, including 84% of Fortune 500. Ricoh brings people, processes and technology together to solve challenges for companies large and small. When Kiyoshi Ichimura founded the Ricoh Group more than 80 years ago, he had a vision for how the company should treat its customers, planet and each other: Love your neighbor, Love your country, Love your work. This “Spirit of Three Loves” is the Ricoh Way and it defines a culture that extends beyond the workplace and into the communities where Ricoh colleagues live and work. Ricoh USA of Exton is one of only a few companies that participated in corporate workdays during the COVID-19 crisis. Not once, not twice, but four times! That’s the Ricoh Way! MacHose Contracting

Leaky roofs are a recurring problem for many mobile home owners who call Good Works. Roof repair on older mobile homes is different from that of a traditional home and MacHose Contracting of Allentown, PA is one of a few firms qualified and experienced installing maintenance-free roof over systems. Good Works began subcontracting with MacHose many years ago and the relationship has flourished ever since. Along with a significant non-profit discount, owner Rick MacHose has added a generous donation on each Good Works project throughout the COVID-19 pandemic. Quality workmanship, excellent customer service and a great product has made this a time-honored business partnership. See: www.machosecontracting.com

Ricoh volunteers live out the “Spirit of Three Loves” through their volunteerism at Good Works.

A new roof by MacHose Contracting extends the life and value of a mobile home.
